CHILD FATALLY BURNED.—A fittle son of Mrs. Tracy, who resides on Sixth-street, near Harriet, was fatally burned while playing near the fire yesterday, during the absence of his mother. When discovered, his eyes and ears were entirely destroyed. Medical aid was called in, but it is impossible for him to recover.

Another Buschary.—The house of Mr. Ambruster, on Liberty-street, near Sycamore, was entered by burglars, night before last, and a number of likenesses taken away, in one of which was $375 in bank bills. The thief evidently knew that the money was there secreted, and hence the ease with which he secured his prize. which he secured his prize.

ALLEGED BURGLARS ARRESTED.—A man named David Cheetum, was arrested, night before last, on a charge of entering the house of Mr. Moore, a resident of the Sixteenth Ward, and carrying away a watch and some other valuables. He was taken before Judge other valuables. He was taken before Judge Lowe, yesterday morning, but not being ready for trial, his case was continued until to-morrow; and in the meantime he was committed to jail, in default of $1,000 ball for his appearance on that day. Officer Cook, yesterday afternoon, arrested a young man named Lewis Haun, on a charge of having been engaged in robbing houses, and lodged him in the Ninth-street Station-house, to await an examination to-day. With regard await an examination to-day. With regard to the truth contained in the charges against these parties, we know nothing; but one thing is certain, several burglaries are com-mitted in the city every night, and an effort ought to be made to prevent them.

Annival of the Philadelphia Board of Trade.—The members of the Philadelphia Board of Trade arrived in this city, from Lexington, Ky., yesterday afternoon, at five o'clock, and are now stopping at the Burnet

The object of the Board in making a tour through the West is to inform themselves concerning the resources of the Mississippi Valley, and the means by which a more direct trade can be established with that section.

Although Philadelphia can not rival New York as a commercial city, yet its facilities in this respect are of no ordinary kind, and are sufficient to supply a large extent of country—much larger than is supplied at present.

As a manufacturing city, Philadelphia As a manufacturing city, Philadelphia possesses advantages over any other east of the Alleghanies; and these advantages must largely compensate for the absence of such capacious harbors as those of Portland, Boston, New York and Norfolk; and, if its capitalists adroitly avail themselves of them, they can command a full share of the commerce of the West and South.

The advantages which must accrue to the Mississippi Valley, by having two markets for their trade, instead of one, are apparent, as rivalry always produces activity.

We are well aware of the demoralizing influences of an artificial commerce, and of the benefits of allowing every thing to take its natural channel; but this interchange of civili-ties between the merchants of the East and the West does not seek to establish a protective trade, but merely to facilitate one that has already grown to importance, and which re-quires only that its natural advantages be known to be extended. Although it is folly to attempt to carry on commerce where there are no facilities, yet it is highly desirable that every impediment to a legitimate trade should be removed.

City Council-Proceedings Last Night The Council met at the usual hour last night, President Torrence in the Chair. The min-utes of the previous evening were read and approved.

Mr. Walker offered a resolution, appointing a special committee of three, to draw up and present an ordinance requiring all the departments to make their annual report to the Mayor on the first Wednesday in March, and that the Mayor be instructed to report the whole to the City Council on the second Wednesday after the April election, Adopted.

Adopted.

The same member also presented a resolution removing the Ninth-street Station-house to the George-street Engine-house.

Mr. Bosley offered a substitute, instructing the Committee on Fire Department to remove the Chief Engineer's office from the corner of Race and Longworth to the George-street Engine-house, between Johnstreet and Central-avenue. The substitute was adopted.

Mr. Hirst offered the following:
"Resolved: That the City Solicitor is hereby requested to report to Council whether the ordinance passed April 6, 1860, entitled 'An ordinance to improve the condition of the streets, '&c., commonly called the 'Garbage' Ordinance, can be enforced, either upon the present contractors, or the people, during the existence of the present contracts; and if not, what amendments are necessary to make not, what amendments are necessary to make the ordinance valid."

the erdinance valid."
Adopted.
Mr. Weasner offered a sesolution instructing the Board of Improvements to grade the lot in front of the public buildings, the work to be done by the city prisoners. Adopted.
Mr. Sprague presented a petition from the property-holders on East Front-street, asking Council to grant the right of way to the Kilgour Railroad Company to lay down a double track for a railroad on said street. Referred to the Trustees of the Third and Seventeenth Wards.

The bond of David Fisher, Justice of the Peace elect, was accepted and filed.
A communication was received from the Judge of the Superior Court, informing Council that Andrew Burt had been appointed Park Commissioner, vice Charles Darwalls, resigned.

Reamelin, resigned.

The special committee, to whom was referred the subject of rent for the Orphan Asylum building, reported that they had concluded to recommend the sum of $600 per annum from the first of March next Mr. Stokes, from the Committee on Roads and Canals, reported a resolution instructing the city Civil Engineer to notify the Cincin-nati Railroad Company to bowlder the unpaved parts of Seventh-street; and in default, to have it done at the expense of the said company.

Mr. Whitson said that the company had voluntarily entered into an engagement to bowlder the streets; all other companies had performed their contract in that respect, and he wanted to compel this one to comply with theirs. He claimed that certain of-ficers had not done their duty, and they ought to be compelled to do so, even at that late day. He was a street-railroad man all the time, but he was in favor of bowldering the streets, when the company had con-tracted to do so.

Mr. Wessner offered an amendment that Mr. Vensiter observed an attendent and the contractors be required to look to the company for their pay. Accepted.

Mr. Eggleston made a speech on it, without defining his position.

Mr. Hirst was in favor of holding the companies to their contract, but the only companies to their contract, but the only way to reach it was by ordinance. The resolution was passed.

Mr. Stokes, from the same committee, presented the following resolution:

Resolved, That the City Council of the city of Cincinnati hereby grant to Messrs. Green & Long, the privilege of running their steam-cars upon the Pendleton and Fifthstreet Market-space Street Railroad from eleven o'clock P. M., and four o'clock A. M., the parties giving security against all eleven o'clock P. M., and four o'clock A. M., the parties giving security against all damages that may accrue.

Mr. Glass opposed the resolution. Let the Philadelphians try their inventions at home, and if found to succeed, let them be brought here.

Mr. Stokes said the machine was invented by two young men, who were poor, and Mr. Kilgour offered to help them. All they ask is Latta, and it ought to be granted.

Mr. Eggleston made an ironical allusion to these "poor young men," and thought they had better keep their invention at home, till perfected.

Mr. Stokes said it had been found men,

Mr. Eggleston-"Then let them keep it there; they don't need to bring it here."

Mr. Whitson was in favor of encouraging mechanics. We must do so, or there will be mechanics. We must do so, or there will be no improvement. Our locomotive engines had been imported from the East, and had this State acted upon the policy of some gentlemen, we should be now compelled to move our cars by horse-power. Give these mechanics a chance, and five years hence there will not be a horse-car on the streets.

Mr. Moore would vote for the measure if he believed it of any utility; but in this he believed there would be no advantages, while there would be many disadvantages. Of all the streets, East Front was the worst to try such an experiment over.

Mr. Frazer made a speech in opposition to the resolution. He denominated the engine an "infernal machine," from which he intended to protect his ward. The resolution was then lost; ayes four, nays twenty-six.

A communication was received from John A communication was received from John M. Camberwell & Co., proposing to establish a fire-alarm and police telegraph in the city, together with every thing necessary for its perfect operation and protection, for the sum of $60,000; the city to farnish, within one month, a room for a central station, and guarantee, also, the right of way through the streets; $40,000 to be paid in cash, and the remainder in one and two years from date. Made the special order for two weeks from last night. from last night.

Mr. Shearer moved to take up the resolu-tion authorizing the Commissioner of the Eastern District to have East Front-street repaired at an expense not to exceed $300. Carried. The resolution was then lost. On motion of Mr. Whitcomb, the resolution

On motion of Mr. Whitcomb, the resolution authorizing the opening of Taylor-street to Freeman, was then taken up.

This brought out a debate on the general subject of opening streets, which lasted for a considerable length of time, when the vote was taken, and the resolution was lost.

Mr. Marsh asked and obtained leave to make a secont from a Special Committee to make a report from a Special Committee to whom was referred the subject of opening Cutter-street. The report was accompanied by a resolution instructing the City Solicitor to have that street opened from Eighth to Richmond. The resolution was lost, ayes sixteen, nays fourteen—not a majority of the whole Board.

The appropriations for the month of November were then passed, after which the Council adjourned.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE LEBANON-BOAD.—
The Lebanon-road, from Liberty-street to the corporation line, is now being re-graded, with a view of Macadamizing it. This thoroughfare has long been nearly impassable, and would have become entirely so, before spring, and not something been done. The work however, is not such as it should have work, however, is not such as it should have been. The amount of travel in that direc-tion requires that the road should be bowldered, and that sidewalks be laid down the whole distance. This, however, we sup-pose, is now indefinitely postponed.

BE IT REMEMBERED, that Dr. Francis's office is at No. 137 West Fourth-street; that Dr. Francis has received a medal and premiums; that Dr. Francis is the inventor of a new process; that Dr. Francis gives no drugs of any kind; that Dr. Francis extracts all teeth and roots without pain; that Dr. Francis treats the various diseases of the mouth; that Dr. Francis can produce 1,000 witnesses of the above. witnesses of the above.

QUEEN CITY SHOR-STORE.—Messrs, O'Donoghus & Walsh, No. 164 West Fifth-street, at the store formerly occupied by Alf. Burnott, have opened an endless variety of boots and shoes, for ladies, gents and children, to which they invite the attention of our citizens before making their purchases elsewhere.

Equalization of the Wards. Their Number to be Increased. The necessity for the subdivision of a number of our larger Wards, and the equition of others has become so apparent, the matter can not be much longer delayed The population of the Twelfth Ward is about times that of the Second, and it co mins about four times the number of voters yet each is entitled to two members of the City Council, and no more. Nothing can be more unfair than to allow one man in the Second, and two men in the First Ward, to wield the same amount of political power with four in the Twelfth, yet such is the case, and the inequality is constantly increasing. The Eleventh, Twelfth and Sixteenth Wards are as yet sparsely settled, and when they be-come densely crowded with inhabitants, will contain from 60,000 to 80,000 each, while some of the older Wards are already filled to their utmost capacity.

Nor is this all. Aside from the inequality of representation thus established, it is impossible for the members of Council from the lower wards to attend, as they should, to the local interests of their constituents; er, to do so would at least require all their time, which few men can afford to give, without ompensation.

Another source of annoyance is the difficulty which election judges experienced in receiving, and clerks in recording the votes, At the last election, in the Twelfth Ward, there were cast, on an average, 225 votes per hour, or four votes each minute; so that it will be seen at a glance, that during such haste, no opportunity is given to challenge illegal voters; or if any time is so consumed, legal ones wil be excluded from the polls. Members of Council appear at length to realize the necessity for redistricting the city, and an ordinance to that effect will, we city, and an ordinance to that enect will, we learn, he introduced into that body before the April election, in order that a full Council may then be chosen.

At present, there are seventeen Wards in the city, five of which should be subdivided. These are the Eighth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth and Sixteenth; the Twelfth being large enough, and containing a sufficient population, to be divided into three parts. Should these subdivisions be made, the city will contain twenty-three Wards and the Council consist of forty-six members.

Whether or not any additional wisdom will be infused into the municipal legislation by this increase in numbers, we are unable to say; but certain it is, that not only ought the Wards be equalized, but nearly all of them should be subdivided into election precincts, as in New York and other large cities. Hon. Gco. E. Push in Covington.

A large and enthusiastic audience assembled at Magnolia Hall, last evening, to listen to an address from the Hon. Geo. E. Pugh, of Ohio, on the political questions of the day. The speaker commenced his address by referring to the political equality and independence of the several States, showing that each one had the power to regulate its own local affairs, according to the will of its people, and independently of regulate its own local allairs, according to the will of its people, and independently of any control by the General Government. He instanced, as illustrative of this, the present naturalization law of Massachusetts, and the property qualification for voters in New York, Rhode Island, and other States, and argued from this that as every State had manifestly the right to determine the quali-fications of its voters, it also had the power to regulate the social status of all other perto regulate the social status of all other persons within its bounds, and that this power was confined to the people of each State; Congress having no such power.

But Mr. Breckinridge and his friends claimed that it was the duty of Congress to claimed that it was the duty of Congress to protect the property of every citizen of the country, whatever that property might consist in. Let us apply common sense to this statement, and see if it be true. Suppose a citizen of Kentucky should emigrate to Kansas, carrying with him his slaves, his hogs, his whisky and—say a keg of powder. On arriving at Leavenworth, he turns his hogs loose in the street to pick up what they can, but there happens to be a city ordinance in Leavenworth, forbidding hogs to run at large, and so they get put in the pound. Will he call for Congressional interference to protect his hogs?

Then he attempts to sell his whisky there

Then he attempts to sell his whisky there at retail, but the city authorities forbid him to sell until he has purchased a license. Will he appeal to Congress on the ground that the whisky is his property, and must be protected?

His powder is left in a situation where it is liable to take fire, and he is informed that he must place it in the hands of the licensed dealer, who will use special precaution for its safety, or it will be taken from him. Would any body claim that he was unjustly treated? No. He held his property there, subject to the local laws of the place, and it was his duty, as a good citizen, to obey those laws. Even Mr. Yancey himself, would acknowledge the justice of this in each of the cases he had mentioned; but when the same man brings his slaves into the Terri-tory, and the people object to his holding them, then Mr. Yancey cries out for Congressional interference, to force slavery into the Territory in opposition to the wishes of the people.

The speaker did not deny the right of property in negroes, but he wished them to stand in the same position as any other of the people.

But then, on the other hand, we hear a great deal about the ordinance of 1787, drawn up by Thomas Jefferson, which was declared to dedicate all the Territories of the United States to freedom, and Mr. Yancey in his late speech at Florence had a good deal to say about the ordinance of 1784, prescribing Congressional Government for the Territories. Mr. Yancey was not as well posted in our national history as he should have been Theorems as such ordinance of have been. There was no such ordinance of 1784. There was a report of a committee, of which Mr. Jefferson was chairman, which report contained the famous clause so often referred to as Jefferson's ordinance, but this clause was stricken out before the report was

The speaker then went on to give an elaborate seview of the action of Congress in regard to the Territories ever since the formaon of the Government, showing that the design has always been to leave the people of each Territory as much as possible at liberty to act as they pleased. Had this principle always been followed, all this trouble and annoyance about the everlasting negro would have been avoided. The followers of Mr. Yancey were the persons really responsible for the evils of which they now so loudly complain, and they alone must bear the blame.

The whole design of the Breckinridge fac-tion was to throw the election into the Senate, in order to elect Joe Lane; but even in this they would be disappointed. The con-troversy in the Democratic party would give the election to the Republicans, and the Breckinridge faction must bear the blame

AMUSEMENTS.

Pine's Opera-Bouss.—The play last night was not so largely attended as the charming beneficiaries deserved. The performance was received with warm demonstrations of satisfaction. Eustoche is played with power. Mr. Taylor and Miss Denio attempt nothing which they do not do artistically and well. Mr. Hale has secured a hold upon the audiences at this house, and carries them with him. The Gale Sisters were, if possible, more graceful than ever. In the carnival scene of the Invisible Trines, their wreathdance was enthusiastically received.

THE OPERATIC CONCERTS.—The first of the three concerts to be given by the Muzio-Colson Company will take place to-night. The change in the arrangement, by which these concerts are to be given at the Opera-house, adds so greatly to their attractiveness, that they will undoubtedly be a success; a consummation which was very doubtful before. The brilliant appearance which the Opera-The brilliant appearance which the Opera-house gives to the audience, the opportunity for toilet effects, which are lost in a concert-room, and the fine orchestra, will make these concerts unusually attractive.

NATIONAL TREATER.—The success attending the play of the Man in the Iron Mask, at the National Theater, has induced the manager to put it upon the stage again this evening. It, however, will be the last time, and those who wish to witness the celebrated Mr. and Mrs. Wallack in this should embrace this, the last opportunity to do so.

School Board.—At a session of this body, on Tuesday night last, Miss Lizzie Kernainan was appointed assistant teacher in the primary department.

At a previous meeting a petition had been presented, complaining of Miss Alexander punishing the children too severely, and asking the Board to examine into the matter. After receiving all the actual testimony and tracing up reports transferred from mouth to mouth by a certain portion of the female community known as "scandal-makers" and "tale-bearers," without finding the least fact to uphold the charges set forth, or any thing that would warrant a censure, the Board unanimously exonerated Miss A., and in-dorsed her method of teaching the young

Sr. Lovis, October 31.—Frank Blair re-turned yesterday from an electioneering tour through Pennsylvania and Illinois. He ad-dressed a large crowd at Soulard Market last evening. He referred to the late presence of Mr. Douglas in this city and his reply to the questions of the Bulletin relative to the alleged complicity of Blair with Green's seat in the Senate, &c.

Mr. Douglas said, in his late speech here, that "the Republicans make a false charge, that "the Republicans make a false charge, and call upon the Breckinridge men to swear to it. Mr. Biar said: "If Mr. Douglas intended to imply by the above language that I ever sought a private interview with him upon political subjects, and furnished the Breckinridge papers with charges against him, based upon that conversation, and sought to have myself called as a witness to prove the charge, he is guilty of a gross and wanton fulsehood, and I can produce most conclusive evidence and prove it upon him. I never furnished Breckinridge papers, nor any one else, charges against Mr. Douglas, based upon what he said, nor did I communicate with any one upon the subject, except in accordance with his own views and suggestions and to forward his wishes, and I am not even responsible for the fact of the substance of the letter B. Gratz Brown bruited about being made public. When asked subsequently and after I had been assailed by Douglas politicians, I declaimed saying any thing about the matter, and should not say what I have, except that the Presidential monomania is no license to villify and alander those who encouraged him in the only good act of his life."
